PRISONERS CUT WAY OUT OF MARICOPA COUNTY JAIL

SHERIFF'S OFFICE REFUSES TO GIVE OUT STORY 8 HOURS AFTER JAIL DELIVERY; FUGITIVES LEAVE IN AUTO.

PHOENIX, Nov. 14.—Harvey J. Wold, man of many aliases, added jail breaking to the long list of charges held against him when he crawled out of the county jail yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Everett Thompson, a federal prisoner, who occupied the same cell with him. The delivery was accomplished shortly after 12 noon yesterday through a hole in the jail roof through which Melvin Keyes made his break for liberty four weeks ago. For some reason the hole had never been closed and Wold and Thompson had little difficulty getting away after they had worked through the lower tier of cells.

Wold was arrested in San Diego a few weeks ago and was brought back to Phoenix on November 8. Since that time he occupied cell 5, with Thompson as his cellmate. For several days the officials have been suspicious that all was not well with the tanks and yesterday morning they investigated and it is reported they found saws, files and acid, supposedly smuggled into the jail since the arrest of Wold. In making the investigation the officers also found that a hole had been cut in the steel floor that separates the lower bathroom from the one in the upper tier.

A plumber was called to repair the hole and the prisoners in the upper tier were locked in their cells. Wold and Thompson in cell 5 of the lower tank were not locked in their cells, according to information gleaned from other than jail sources. The spot where the hole was cut in the floor was rusted and was evidently cut with acid and saws. When the plumber learned the nature of the job he returned to his shop for other tools and while he was gone Wold and Thompson worked their way from the lower tank to the corridor above and then through the same hole in the roof that was used by Keyes several weeks ago. Wold and Thompson made their way from the roof by means of the drain pipe on the southwest corner of the building, but before they reached the ground the pipe gave away, dropping them several feet.

Wife Waits In Auto

After getting clear of the jail, Wold and Thompson walked over to Monroe street and jumped into a waiting automobile. Mrs. Wold disappeared from her room on North Second avenue early in the morning and an investigation disclosed that she joined Wold and Thompson in the automobile. The car stopped for a few minutes on Monroe street between Central avenue and First street and when last seen was speeding east at a rapid rate. The number of the car could not be learned last night. It was a Buick touring car with bright yellow wheels.

The jail delivery occurred shortly after noon, but news of the escape was not made public until after 8 o'clock last night when The Republican reporter received a "tip" that he could get a story at the county jail.

Withheld Information

When the reporters called at the sheriff's office shortly after receiving word of the escape they were informed there was "nothing doing" and all was well around the county building. Even after being questioned regarding the reported escape the officers remained mum. The attaches of the sheriff's office seemed indignant that news of the escape had "leaked" out and absolutely refused to give out any information on the escape or the identity of Wold's companion. Each officer was questioned and each one stated that he knew nothing of the delivery.

It finally was learned that Wold's companion was a prisoner by the name of Thompson, but his initials or the charge under which he was held were not for publication.

Used Saws and Acid

The cell bars bear evidence of attempts to cut through with saws and acid, according to information received last night. The hole in the bathroom floor was cut in a spot that had been badly rusted from water dripping from the bathroom. It is presumed that Wold and Thompson passed acid to one of the prisoners in the upper tank, and with the steel plate rusted it offered little resistance to the cutting acid.

Wold, according to local authorities is known in Los Angeles as Half Ray Wood. Other aliases under which he is said to have gone are Roger Lane, Jack Waite, Dave Ward and Johnson. He was known in San Diego, Joplin, Mo., and Little Rock, Ark.

Wold is said to have escaped from police at San Bernardino, Calif., January 15, 1921, by deliberately wrecking the automobile in which he was being taken to jail.

Wold was arrested in San Diego last month and was brought back to Phoenix November 8 to face trial. No announcement of the jail break

BISHOP GRANJON DIES ON VISIT TO LAND OF HIS BIRTH

It was announced in the columns of the Era last week, that Father Mele received word of the death of Bishop Henry Granjon, of the Arizona diocese, with headquarters in Tucson. The Era was going to press when the wire was received so no details could be given.

Bishop Granjon succumbed to heart failure, death overtaking him in Brignais Rhone, France, according to a cablegram received in Tucson. About six months ago Bishop Granjon left Tucson for the Orient in the hope of regaining his failing health, and planned to return to the Old Pueblo shortly before Christmas time.

He was 59 years of age, and was ordained Bishop of the Arizona diocese 22 years ago. Prior to that time and at the time he was ordained Bishop, he was pastor of the Tombstone Catholic church.

During his long residence in Arizona, Bishop Granjon has been a leading figure in the religious work of his diocese, and was a frequent visitor to the parishes in his diocese, always taking advantage of the opportunity to visit the Tombstone parish, where he has friends, whom he had known for upwards of 25 years.

The remains of Bishop Granjon will probably be interred in France.

FORMER BANKER IS OUT ON BAIL WHILE CASE IN HIGH COURT

PHOENIX, Nov. 14.—S. B. Brown, former official of the Willcox bank, who was convicted in Tombstone in June and sentenced to serve from three and one-half to five years in the state penitentiary on a charge of receiving deposits in an insolvent bank, yesterday was released from the Cochise county jail under a bond of $12,000 pending the outcome of the appeal to his case now on file in the Arizona supreme court. The bond signed by several citizens of the state, was approved yesterday by Miss Eugenia Davis, clerk of the court.

Brown after receiving his sentence in Tombstone where the trial was held on the charge which grew out of the failure of the Willcox bank, made motion for a new trial which was denied by the court. He then filed an appeal to the supreme court, on the judgment and sentence of the lower court, and since has been held in the Tombstone jail awaiting the furnishing of bond on approval of the outcome of the appeal. Yesterday the bond was filed with the supreme court and approved by the clerk and Brown was ordered released from jail.

was made by county authorities until late this evening. The two prisoners are believed to have left Phoenix in an automobile in company with Wold's wife who disappeared from her room at a local rooming house here today.

The prisoners' according to officers, first made their way from the lower tier of the jail through a hole which had previously been cut in the floor of the upper tier wash room.

Telegrams have been sent to officials in surrounding towns asking them to keep a lookout for the fugitives.

NEXT LEGISLATURE OVERWHELMINGLY DEMOCRATIC

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 13.—The democrats will have 18 of the 19 senators and 40 of the 45 representatives in the Arizona state legislature for the next two year period, a compilation here of complete reports from every county in the state shows. J. C. Phillips, of Phoenix, was the only republican elected to the upper house. Senator Phillips will be a minority leader, republican floor leader, republican whip and will call himself into caucus on important matters.

In the lower house the republicans elected two representatives from Maricopa county and three from Cochise county, the remainder of the state returning solid democratic delegations.

Following is the personnel of the two houses according to reports from the counties of complete though unofficial returns:

COMMISSION AT WORK ON PACT

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 13.—Today's session of the Colorado river commission meeting at Bishop's lodge, near here, was devoted to a discussion of technical questions including acreage and the estimated flow of the river and when the commission finished its work to night, Herbert Hoover, its chairman announced progress had been made. The commission is meeting in executive session. Details of discussions were not made public.

The commission held two meetings today, a morning and an afternoon session. Members are devoting themselves entirely to the task of formulating a pact and have declined many invitations to banquets and other entertainments. Sessions are lasting from two to three hours twice a day and are devoted exclusively to discussions relative to the pact.

The commission is probably one of the hardest bodies of its kind that has convened in recent years. Each member fully appreciates the big task before the commission and is bending every effort to reach an agreement.

Chairman Hoover tonight pointed out that the position of the Imperial valley of California made it imperative that a pact be reached at the earliest possible moment to guarantee flood protection to that district.

"The people of the Imperial valley must have quick help to protect them from serious flood conditions," declared Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Hoover said he was confident the commission would be able to formulate a satisfactory agreement. Other commissioners also were well satisfied with the progress already made. No statements were available as to how long the sessions would extend.

DYNAMITE CAP EXPLODES INJURING LITTLE CHILD

Marabab, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woods of Springerville, was accidentally shot during the week and will likely lose the use of her left hand. She was sitting in school picking at a dynamite cap with a hairpin when the cap exploded, tearing the left hand and making a hole in the left side, causing her considerable pain. She is doing as well as could be expected. We understood there were eight or nine of these dynamite caps found on the school grounds at Springerville.—Holbrook Tribune.

COPPER SITUATION SLOWLY IMPROVING SAYS CHAS. F. WILLIS

It is interesting to note that, in spite of the fact that France was supplanting Germany as the largest consumer of American copper, that Germany is again in line and in her usual place at the head of the column. The first eight months of 1922 showed better than 100,000,000 pounds increase in foreign sales over the same period in 1921 or about 35% increase. This was in spite of the fact that Germany, France and Belgium did not increase during that period.

The governing factor in regard to copper is the European consumption. During the pre-war period Europe took about 55 per cent of the American output, according to J. Park Channing, vice president and consulting engineer of the Miami Copper Company, who is at present in the southwest.

Pessimists on the "copper situation" have been holding up the bugbear of possible overproduction but this has been dispelled by Mr. Channing. "I see no danger of over production," states Mr. Channing. "Sales during the last six months have been very satisfactory, but there is one difficult point to be decided. Has the copper sold gone into consumption? The copper producer's association has accurate figures of production, shipments and deliveries, but we have none on the ultimate consumption. Investigations are being made on that matter now and it is hoped that in time we may have some definite figures as to the actual consumption. It may be that some of the buying of the last six months has been for manufacturers, jobbers and retailers. Taking everything into consideration, I may say that the industry is in a healthy condition with a price which, however, is lower than the pre-war average. That price is not giving the companies the profit that is necessary to keep them in the financial position they should be in.

"The Miami Copper Company has sold its metal right along, a great deal of it having gone for foreign consumption. We hope it will continue. One gets very contradictory reports as to Europe from men who are presumably good observers, and it is very difficult to arrive at a positive conclusion. I do not know what will emerge from the troubles of Germany, but it would not surprise me if the mark went the way of the Mexican paper currency. When that happens the country will begin to make its return to a metallic basis. I am informed that nearly all of their foreign trade is done in dollars and pounds."

Mr. Channing refers interestingly to the future development of the electrical industry and its effect on copper production. "I know that electrification is coming. On October 4 the Illinois Central announced its decision to electrify its Chicago terminal at a cost of some $25,000,000. There will undoubtedly be a great deal of electrification in railroad terminals. This is the first electrification in Chicago and the proposition was carefully considered by three prominent electrical engineers who spent eight or nine months on it. They are going to use 1,500 volt direct current. There is a big field in this alone, and of course all this is good for copper."

Power demands in the Southwest are continually increasing and the Magma Copper Company of Superior are now negotiating with the Salt River Valley Water Users Association for four times as much power as they are now using. It is believed that the large demands for power from the Miami, Globe and Superior districts will tend to hasten the construction of the Mormon Flats Dam.

MINE OFFICIAL SAYS COPPER SALES ARE NOW UNDER OUTPUT

Mr. Arthur C. James vice president of the Phelps Dodge corporation, P. G. Becket, General Manager of the corporation and T. M. Schumaker, president of the E. P. & S. W. Railroad, arrived in Clifton on a special train the forepart of the week, on a tour of inspection.

Mr. James predicted that Arizona mines will be unable to order any increase in production until there is a more substantial demand for the red metal.

While the immediate outlook for copper was not particularly bright, the visitor said, he was confident the industry would "come back" as soon as conditions in Europe were clarified.

TO NEW JERSEY—Mrs. Charlotte Hampton, who has been the guest of her sister Mrs. Shirk left Friday morning for her home in New Jersey. While here Mrs. Hampton was extensively entertained by her many friends.

LIEUT. COL. A. GORDON KANE

Lieut. Col. A. Gordon Kane of Washington, now eighty-two years old, and Chauncey Depew, also an octogenarian, are the only living men who attended the funeral of Abraham Lincoln, and both of them were present at the dedication of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington on May 30.

ALLEGES FOWLER DEVISED FAKE STOCK SCHEME

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 13.—J. E. Fowler, formerly of Flagstaff, Ariz., was indicted by a federal grand jury here September 30 on a charge of devising a scheme to defraud residents of Flagstaff and other parts of Northern Arizona by means of alleged fake promotions and of using the mails in violation of section 215 of the federal penal code in furtherance of this scheme. It was announced today at the office of Assistant United States District Attorney Francis D. Crabbe.

The announcement followed receipt of a letter from the Denver, Colo., post office inspector's office stating that Fowler, who is now located in Denver, has agreed through his attorney to appear when wanted in connection with the charge and asking that copies of the indictment necessary to institute removal proceedings be forwarded to the Denver authorities.

Fowler is alleged in the indictment to have conducted a stock selling campaign for the Union Exploration company at Flagstaff, which company was to have been organized with a capital stock of $5,000,000 and which was to have purchased and developed mines, oil properties, ranch lands and other ventures. Money received from the sale of stock was not used for these purposes, it is charged. The alleged fraudulent promotion took place in 1919.

The indictment also charges that Fowler was connected with the fraudulent promotion of other corporations.

U. S. COURT TO OPEN IN PHOENIX MONDAY BUT MAY BE POSTPONED

PHOENIX, Nov. 14.—The November session of the United States district court will open in Phoenix next Monday, but whether any cases will come before the court remains uncertain, as D. N. Willets, chief deputy United States marshal, has been instructed to adjourn the session in case no federal judge is present.

Judge William H. Sawtelle, accompanied by Paul Dickerson, deputy clerk of the court, left Tucson late Sunday for Globe, where the fall term was opened yesterday. A very heavy docket must be disposed of at Globe before the court can be adjourned and it is thought likely by local federal officials that this will necessitate a postponement of the Phoenix term.

A total of 63 prohibition law violations cases will be brought before the session of the court in the mining city, together with a large number of other indictments, according to F. H. Bernard, district attorney, who, with Francis D. Crabbe, deputy district attorney, will prosecute the cases.

Judge Sawtelle has intimated that he would like to have some disposition made of the cases on the present Globe court calendar and, if his desire is carried out, it is thought that the term here will be ushered in much before the second week in December.

TO START NEW BUSINESS IN BISBEE

Messrs. John Young and A. Hildreth left Tuesday morning for Bisbee where they will go in the auto to repair business.

W. H. BROPHY LOST DURING STORM IN CALIFORNIA GULF

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 14.—Members of the fishing and hunting party, aboard the small boat, from which William H. Brophy, millionaire banker copper magnate, was swept overboard into the Gulf of California last night, will return to Nogales tomorrow, having abandoned hope of recovering the body of their companion, according to word received here tonight from Guaymas, Mexico.

Mr. Brophy, a director of the First National bank of Los Angeles, officer of banks of Bisbee and Douglas, and a leading figure in the copper industry of the southwest for the past 20 years, left Nogales Sunday with a party of business men, for a several weeks' hunting and fishing trip along the west coast of Mexico.

At Guaymas they boarded the boat intending to make the first leg of their trip to Tobari Point by water. They encountered a heavy storm, according to the reports reaching here, and Mr. Brophy was swept overboard. His companions were unable to reach him in the dark and the storm, though they heard his shouts for help.

Mr. Brophy was 59 years of age and had made his home recently in Los Angeles. During the world war he served as a "dollar-a-year" man with the Red Cross in France. Frank Brophy, a son, left today for Los Angeles to join his mother.

William H. Brophy was born in Ireland in 1863 and passed his boyhood in his native land, coming to the United States to seek his fortune when he was 17 years old.

1881 he crossed to the Pacific coast and after two years in California found his way into Arizona, settling in Bisbee in 1884.

He engaged in the mercantile business and later became connected with the Phelps-Dodge corporation as general manager of a string of stores in southwestern mining camps.

When the United States entered the world war Mr. Brophy resigned his position with the Phelps-Dodge corporation and went overseas with the Red Cross. He was assigned to the Paris branch, where he remained until after the armistice was signed.

After his return from Europe, Mr. Brophy moved to Los Angeles, though he retained his interest in the Phelps Dodge corporation. At the time of his death he was president of the Bank of Bisbee and vice president of the Bank of Douglas. He also had extensive property holdings throughout the southwest.

In 1891 Mr. Brophy married Miss Ellen Goodboy of Illinois. Mr. Brophy is survived by his wife, now living in Los Angeles, and one son, Frank C. Brophy, a rancher near Phoenix. Two other children died.

Mr. Brophy was prominent in state and national politics and an active worker in the ranks of the Republican party, though he was never a candidate for public office.

FISHING BOAT FLEET, SEEKS BROPHY'S BODY OFF GUAYMAS, MEXICO

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 15.—A small fleet of fishing boats was cruising the waters of the Gulf of California, in the vicinity of Guaymas today, searching for the body of William H. Brophy, millionaire banker of Arizona and Los Angeles, who was swept overboard and drowned during a storm off the Mexican port Monday night.

Attracted by a reward offered by James S. Douglas and M. J. Cunningham, Arizona copper magnates, who arrived today to take personal charge of efforts to recover the body, many Mexican fishermen brought out their small boats and cruised back and forth over the course between Guaymas and Tobari Point, where Brophy lost his life.

Four Nogales business men, who were on the boat with Brophy, returned to this city today and told in detail how the banker went overboard as the schooner lurched in the storm and how his companions heard his shouts and tried in vain to locate him in the dark.

HOLD GLOBE MAN FOR MURDER OF MINER

BISBEE, Ariz., Nov. 10.—Walter L. Bailey, a former Globe, Ariz., miner, was held responsible by a coroner's jury for the killing Wednesday morning of Owen S. Burnett. Burnett died of a gunshot wound in the head. Dr. H. A. Reese who examined the body of Burnett testified that powder marks on the face of the body indicated that the gun had been discharged within a few inches of Burnett's head.

Zane E. Norton, miner testified that shortly after hearing a shot near the entrance to the Czar mine, Bailey walked to him and said:

"If you want to see a good man there is one lying there," and he walked to the police station and surrendered. He told officers the shooting was result of Burnett's alleged attentions to Mrs. Bailey. A charge of murder was filed against Bailey immediately after the inquest.

Burnett's father arrived here yesterday from Arroyo, N. M.
